

SPECIAL NEWS

Two masters of Australian craft offer unique learning opportunities. This year Sturt is offering two week-long special master classes for craft artists with intermediate or advanced skills wanting to stretch their capabilities. Master weaver Liz Williamson is offering a contemporary weave master class from 4-8 April. In this class students will design and make woven structures for the body or as 3D objects that reflect the current concern for environmental issues and sustainable materials. In the pottery from 9-14 May, renowned ceramic artist Owen Rye will demonstrate his methods of working on the potter's wheel and of manipulating and altering vessels after they are removed from the wheel. Students will undertake and practice all the methods shown.

Each master class costs $700 for a full week of specialist tuition including all equipment and materials. Places are limited for these one-off events so contact Sturt Shop on 02 4860 2083 to secure your place.

Exhibition continues to 1 May

Liz Williamson: Textiles is an Object Gallery Touring Exhibition and is part of the Living Treasures: Masters of Australian Craft series.

Owen Rye – woodfired ceramics

8 May to 19 June

Years ago Owen Rye worked with archaeologists and he likes to have some feel of 'antiquity' in his work. Owen's pots are fired in an anagama kiln that produces a wide variety of surface qualities. The work in this exhibition has been chosen to display some of that extraordinary variety.

Owen Rye is one of Australia's best known ceramic artists. Owen has worked in many aspects of his craft including research and archaeology, teaching post graduate students, making and exhibiting woodfired work in Australia and internationally, delivering workshops, curating exhibitions, organising conferences and writing books and articles for industry magazines.

The exhibition will be opened on Sunday 8 May at 11am by special guest Jacqueline Clayton, Coordinator of Ceramics and Presiding Member School of Design Studies, College of Fine Arts, UNSW. Refreshments will be served. This is a FREE EVENT and all are welcome.
